

1:42

Patrick Fitzgerald

V1

St. Charles and Walnut, Audubon Park
Ring in my pocket, Trolley after dark
Riding to the quarter, New Orleans Christmas Eve
In Jackson Square at midnight, I need her to believe

C1

Brought my grandpa's pocket watch, 'cause if the plan falls through
The last train's at 1:42

V2

She meets me at Decatur street for Crawfish Etouffee
Walking with my baby all through the Vieux Carre
Preservation hall blows out "Leaning on the Gate"
French Market praline at 10:58

C2

Bought a silken handkerchief 'cause if the plan falls through
The last train's at 1:42

V3

Bonfires on the levee the Natchez on the shore
St. Louis Cathedral at 11:34
Sprinkles on my shoulder, my heart is beating strong
A trumpet on the corner blows out its lonely song

C3

Picked up an umbrella 'cause if the plan falls through
The last train's at 1:42

S

(Trumpet Melody over Verse)

Bridge

Christmas morn, the Savior's born and peace around the world

B

Christmas morn, the streetlight warmly falls upon my girl
Christmas morn, the evening dew gives way to morning rain
Christmas morn, 1:42... I ride the train

V4

Antebellum mansions all bathed in candlelight
Ring in my pocket Trolley Late at night
Now the tiny speakers softly playing the refrain
I'll be home for Christmas, I'm sipping on the Train (PAUSE)

C4

Brought some Evan Williams just in case the plan fell through
The last train's at 1:42
